

Digital Identities in Canada

Digital Identity Program Director

Role and Responsibilities

The Digital Identity Program Director role will:

- advance the work of the Joint Councils on digital identities by providing focus and dedicated executive leadership;
- be responsible for consulting and integrating perspectives from all key stakeholders in both the public and private sectors;
- collaborate with the DI priority co-leads to plan and direct work on digital identities;
- be capable of addressing topics such as program delivery models, service delivery models, enabling legislation, policy and the logistics.

The Digital Identity Program Director responsibilities will include:

- developing plans for advancing the work on digital identities in Canada;
- providing leadership and support to the Jurisdictional DI Leads;
- providing input into discussions on re-framing DIACC to enable all jurisdictions' participation;
- providing leadership and support in transitioning to a re-focused governance model for the public sector;
- leading and managing stakeholder engagement to seek input, build awareness and consensus among those parties impacted by the advancement of pan-Canadian digital identities;
- conducting research and analysis to support the development of recommendations, as required;
- preparing recommendation papers and presentations for Joint Councils ;
- manage budget, timelines and additional resources as required